A Talk With a Norway Man

Mr. M. W. Sampson, prop. boat transportation business, of 19 Bridge St., Tell of His Experience

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Norway man.

"It has been some time since I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, but from past experience I can recommend them to anyone in need of a good kidney medicine," says Mr. Sampson.

"A cold settled on my kidney and brought on attacks of backache. I was lame and unable to move any way, the pain in my back was so severe. My kidneys didn't act right and I had dizzy spells. A friend who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results advised me to try them so I went to Stone's Drug Store and got three boxes. After I had finished taking them the trouble left and I have been free from kidney disorder since."

MAINE STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL
ASSOCIATION

At the recent semi-annual meeting of the executive committee of the Maine
 State Sunday School Association statistics for the Sunday Schools of the State were reported by the General Secretary,
 Rev. Edward H. Brewster, as follows:

Baptist	27,003
Episcopal	2,711
Methodist	139,054
Congregational	92,189
Friends	1,170
Universalist	3,623
Total	267,760

Deducting the usual percentages for those under school age and those above it, the number of school age in Sunday school is 7,690. There are 148,000 in the public schools of Maine, exclusive of the colleges. This leaves 80,310 receiving no formal religious education. At the meeting resolutions were passed calling for religious education for more children and more religious education for those now receiving it, the Association going on record in favor of weekday religious schools and vacation church schools.

The name of the Association was changed by vote of the Executive Committee to Maine State Sunday School Association for Religious Education, and will hereafter be known as such. Three Summer Schools for the training of Sunday School teachers were voted, to be held at Houlton, Machias, and Oak Grove Seminary, Vassalboro.

Reports of the work showed better organization throughout the State, including many county officers and larger gifts.
 The Association is planning to send promising young people to be trained for Christian leadership this summer as formerly to the International Camp Conferences at Winnepesaukee. County convention of the Association will be held in the Spring. One of the early Sundays in March will be observed throughout the State as Sunday School Day.

"Only Asleep."
She fell asleep in the quiet morn,
Like a beautiful flower she lay,

Softly the snow was falling
As we laid her away to rest,
"Safe in the Arms of Jesus,"
Surely God knows best.
And oh! so softly He said,
"Why weepst thou? She's only Asleep, not dead—not dead!"

WHITE PINE BLISTER RUST

Business is directly and indirectly concerned in the continued production of white pine. The great economic importance of this crop is more readily appreciated when we consider that there are 21 billion board feet of white pine in the Eastern United States estimated to be worth $276,000,000 as well as a very large acreage of young pine. New England alone has 300 million dollars in white pine in wood and wood-using industries, which employ over 90,000 men.

In the Eastern States white pine is the most valuable tree for crop production, bringing annual returns of from five to ten dollars per acre on land that otherwise would be practically worthless. In New England it is an important part of farming operation. The average farmer in Oxford County finds much of his land uncultivable and fit only for growing a crop of timber.

White Pine for this region. It provides a source of ready money, keeps the farm labor and teams busy during the winter and gives him a profitable income. Indirectly it benefits the public by protecting watersheds, regulating stream flow, furnishing shelter for game and birds and providing opportunity for recreation.

It is obvious that the destruction of this valuable crop would have a far reaching effect upon many lines of business such as lumbering, transportation and wood-working industries. In many sections business which depends largely upon the tourist trade, would be severely injured because white pines are one of the principal attractions for the summer vacationist. Locally it would directly affect the economic welfare of the community while nationally it affects the general public.

This destructive disease was introduced into North America from Europe on young pine about the year 1900. It has spread rapidly to the native white pine forests and is now generally established in New England and New York. The destruction of this disease in connection with the cutting of the mature timber seriously threatens the commercial extinction of the white pine in generally infected regions. The U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the affected States has developed practical control measures during the past 5 years to protect this valuable crop and keep the pine lands productive.

These measures consist of systematic destruction of all wild and cultivated currant and gooseberry bushes within 1000 feet of the trees. They are thoroughly practicable and can be applied cheaply by the pine owners; the average cost for the last five years was about 80c per acre.

Pine infection is rapidly increasing in Maine, for several reasons, the inability of the average pine owner to recognize the disease of pine, the difficulty experienced by the average man in believing currants and gooseberries are transmitters of disease, and unfamiliarity with different kinds of wild currants and gooseberries and the effective methods of their removal. The remedy lies in convincing owners of the danger to their pine trees, instructing them in the identification of the disease and the best method of control and persuading them to take concerted action soon enough to save their pine crop. We want in the next three years to have every pine stand in Oxford protected and to do this we must have the cooperation of every pine owner, and some help from each town, in a small financial appropriation each year.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock School Budget
The voters of Woodstock will be asked to vote on the school budget at the annual town meeting in March and the school officials have made up the budget so the people may clearly understand what they will vote for:

Common Schools	$4,000.00
High Schools	3,000.00
Textbooks	600.00
Repairs	600.00
Ins. App. and App.	600.00
Supt. Account	400.00
School Imp. League	150.00
Physical Education	100.00
Flag School Office	100.00
Insurance, Apparatus, Appliances	150.00
School Improvement League

There are a few things which are necessary in the way of repairs. Among these is the changing of the toilets in the rural schools to conform with the State sanitation law, which requires that they be 10 feet away from the building, connected to it by a separate ventilated walk and opening directly from the school room or corridor. This will cost between $200.00 and $300.00 apiece. In order to equalize the burden a part should be done this year.

HELP FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can use this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."

Mrs. M. Lodic, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

AEROBELL

Electric Vacuum Clothes Washer

The Aerobell is backed by a broad gauge guarantee which insures your satisfaction.

The Aerobell embodies the improvements for which you have been waiting: Aluminum wringer frame, new type safety release, big round copper tub with full opening, and only three legs for steadiness on uneven floors.

Air Pressure and Suction in the vacuum cups actually draw the soap suds through the fabrics. You can hardly believe how quickly and thoroughly the air-cushioned vacuum cups clean, and they can't harm the most delicate articles. There is no belt, and the mechanism is under the tub, out of the way.

The Aerobell is simple in construction and built to stand years of hard work. It is designed to reduce effort to a minimum. You can depend upon it day after day, year after year.

Principle of Operation—When the washer is in operation the vacuum cups inside the tub move up and down upon the clothes. At the end of each upward stroke the cups rotate partially around the tub and come down in a different position. Thus all the clothes in the tub are acted upon equally. On the downward stroke as the cups reach the water they entrap the air, and as the stroke continues these air cushions press against the clothes, forcing the soapy water through the pores of the cloth. On the upward stroke a vacuum is created which draws the soap solution again through the meshes. Thus, as the vacuum cups reciprocate they continue to force the hot suds back and forth through the fabric. During this operation the clothes change their position in the tub slowly so that all of them in turn come under action of the cups. The action above described will cleanse the heaviest blankets and the daintiest fabrics with equal effectiveness and without the slightest injury.

The capacity of the Aerobell is 8 sheets or their equivalent.
